

Why I Served

A STORYTELLING WORKSHOP AND EVENT FOR VETERANS, BY VETERANS

Workshop	Event
Saturday, April 12, 2025, 10 AM-2 PM The DiSepio Institute, Room 213 Saint Francis University	Saturday, June 7, 2025, 7 PM – 9 PM The Connors Family Fine Arts Center, Saint Francis University

For veterans, sharing stories of service can be deeply meaningful, offering a chance to reflect and shed light on their unique journeys. To support this, members of the Saint Francis University community are hosting a one-of-a-kind workshop and event designed to help veterans share their stories confidently and with pride. It begins with a free workshop on April 12, 2025, from 10 AM to 2 PM (lunch provided), where participants will work with storytelling coaches to craft a 5-minute story on the theme Why I Served. With ongoing mentorship from their coaches, veterans will then take part in an unforgettable evening of live storytelling on June 7, honoring their voices and celebrating their service.

What to Expect

- Grow as a storyteller in a supportive and collaborative environment.
- Get expert guidance from coaches like Colonel Fred Johnson (US Army, Retired) and others with significant storytelling experience.
- Engage in hands-on story development and receive personalized feedback.
- Develop practical communication skills to advance your career.
- Form meaningful connections with fellow veterans.

To register for the April 12 workshop, visit <https://forms.office.com/r/7c6JfkHQRW> or scan this QR code. The deadline for registration is Friday, March 28, 2025.

For questions, contact Dr. Arthur Remillard
(aremillard@francis.edu/814-419-5261)

